

Psalms 133

A song of the steps. Of David.

Behold, how good and how pleasant it is

For brothers to dwell even as one!

It is as the good oil upon the head,

Going down upon the beard, the beard of Aaron;

That goes down upon the open neck of his robes

As the dew of Hermon, that goes down upon the mountains of Zion,

For there Jehovah commanded the blessing,

Life, even to eternity.